ISPO Beijing Final Report
Winter Olympics light the Asian sports industry

ISPO Beijing 2018 (January 24 to 27) was a huge success: 463 exhibitors, 745 brands and more than 30,000 visitors confirmed the positive trend being witnessed in the Asian sports market over the four days. ISPO Beijing will take place at a new venue with an even bigger exhibition space as from 2019 on account of the further growth expected.

"Over the last few days we have seen how major sports events, such as the Olympic Games, can have a real knock-on effect. Interest in new winter sports products and services was huge," says Klaus Dittrich, Chairman and CEO of Messe München. "In order to cope with growing demand over the next few years, ISPO Beijing will change the location and will be held at the China International Exhibition Center (CIEC) with an even larger exhibition space as from 2019."

In 2018, 463 exhibitors and 745 brands were on-site, more than half of which were international. The companies and their innovative new products proved that there are continued impressive growth rates in the areas of functional clothing and wearables to be expected. The Start-up Village was a real attraction for lots of visitors. Here, young Chinese and international companies presented their innovative developments and provided the entire sports industry with fresh impetus.

On the first Day of ISPO Beijing, Alibaba’s Tmall and ISPO announced a planned cooperation. As part of the initiative, Alibaba intends to support the ISPO network by digitizing its services, particularly those aimed at the Chinese market. The contemplated cooperation will enable the over 4,000 international ISPO customers from all over the world who want to expand their e-commerce business into China to learn about the Chinese consumer market and how to work with Alibaba’s e-marketplace Tmall. More information you find in the latest press release.
